
Research data

You probably already share your data with people, for example yourself if you have a job, your doctor if you get sick, or retailers if you shop online. When you share your data as part of a research study, the rules about how your data can be used are slightly different.

An example of the 96f-4 5s 61 Q f65m 0 g 0 G [(.)] TJ ET 19 0.000008869 0 595.2 841(t)9(h)3(e)-23()9(ru)4

How we get data about you

We ask you questions, and we might measure or observe you. Please see the Participant Information Sheet for more details about how we get your data.

What data we will use

We will only collect the minimum of data that we need for the study. Please see the Participant Information Sheet for details about what data we will use.

Why we are using your data

We want to use your data for research purposes